One of the prettiest large military weddings of the season was that last evening, of Miss Beatrice Cheesman to Lieutenant Robert N. Campbell. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends at St. Paul's church at 8:30. The Rev. Mr. Perkins officiating. Miss Cheesman was beautifully gowned in white satin trimmed in real lace that was on her mother's wedding She carried the lace handkerchief and wore the tulle veil that her mother wore. It was caught with a diamond crescent, gift of the bride-groom. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Her attendants were of bride roses. Her attendants were Mrs. Ray Walker, as matron of bonor, who was gowned in white pan sattu and carried red roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Gertrude Hansen, dressed in pale blue chiffon over satin. Miss Pearl Van Cott in pale blue veiling over satin, and Miss Eloise Sadler in pale blue net over taffets. All the dresses were made in empire style and all wore pale blue slipners and gloves. dresses were made in empire style and all wore pale blue slippers and gloves and carried a shower bouquet of red sweet peas. Julian Campbell acted as best man. The ushers were William Campbell, Wallace Bredemeyer, Lieutenant Mason, Lieutenant Robinson and Ray Walker. Before the ceremony Mr. Berkhoel played several beautiful selections, and the Lohengrin wedding march as the party came in and during march as the party came in and during march as the party came in and during the ceremony "O! Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star," from Tann-hauser. The church was beautifully decorated in the military colors. Two very large garrison flags formed a canopy over the chancel with a flag at the background and banked with palms and high vases of shasta daisies. At the altar were two stacks of arms with the altar were two stacks of arms were a bugle. In each of the windows were stacks of arms and a storm flag. Following the ceremony was a supper lowing the ceremony was a supper to the bridal party at the Cheesman lowing the ceremony was a supper to the bridal party at the Cheesman home, which was prettily decorated, the parlor in carnations, sweet peas and shasta daisies, the hall in yellow, the library, where the punch was served by Miss Merce Lewis and Miss Marga-ret Walker, in pink sweet peas, and the dining room in red, many red satin rib-bons hung from the chandlier over the dining room in red, many red satin ribbons hung from the chandlier over the table with bunches of red sweet peasitied at the end of each of the ribbons, and strings of plumosa ran from the chandlier to the four corners of the room. The table was covered with a white Cluny lace piece with a large mound of red sweet peas. Mrs. Louis Cates poured coffee, the wedding cake on the table was cut by the bride with the groom's sabre. Licutenant and Mrs. Campbell left on the late train for a wedding trip, after which they will go to their new home, as Licutenant Campbell has just been promoted to constartillery and will be sent to another post. Mrs. Campbell's traveling dress was brown and tan checked veiling over taffeta with hat to match.

Mrs. Byron Cummings entertained at a large reception vesterday at her home in honor of her guest, Mrs. Torild Arnoldson. The house was beautifully decorated, the parlors in a profusion of shasta dasies and ferns. The library was in yellow with yellow nasturtiums and coreopsis and the dining room was most attractive in pink and white sweet peas. A large cut glass vase filled with them formed the centerpiece. Mrs. Cummings was assisted in receiving by her sister. Miss McLaurie, and Mrs. Joseph Kingsbury. Others who assisted were Mr. James Dart, Mrs. Dalle, Mrs. Leatherwood, Mrs. Hauxhurst and Miss Cummings. Among the young ladies who assisted at the punch bowl in the library and in the dining room were Miss Eva. Thomas, Miss Edna Bailey, Miss Mae Williamson, Miss Edith Kingsbury, Miss Beatrice Wilkinson, Miss Ada Hartley, Miss Hanlin, Miss Ruth Storer, Miss McClain, Miss Duncan, Miss Martha Williamson and Miss Gene Hunt.
